The Post.

Athens, Friday, October 16, 1874.

Movement of Grain.

The Nashville Banner says: It is thought the movement of grain from the Northwest in this direction, will commence before the first of next January. A considerable amount of baled hay is now being shipped into and used in Middle Tennessee.

Body Snatchers.

At Buffalo, New York, the grave of Mrs. Richard J. Carey was robbed.—

The casket, outside coffin and shroud were left lying on the ground. Officers visited the Medical College with a search warrant and found the body with four others. The students were surprised while at work dissecting them.

Interminable.

The Courier-Journal thinks the Beecher scandal we shall have always with us.

The author of the "Life of Christ" has brought libel suits against Tilton, and Moulton, going before a grand jury and swearing that their statements are scandalous slanders. Tilton, in return, reaffirms the truth of the charges that have been made, and emphatically declares his readiness for trial. Meanwhile Mr.

Beecher's flock continues to adore its pastor and can scarcely contain itself.

From the Chattanooga Times.

If Tennessee had gone on as she was going in 1866-7, she would now owe about $400,000,000. It was very lucky that the real people of the State got control of affairs and stopped the "shoveling out" of State bonds to railroad companies. If that sort of management had proceeded till now, there would be no quarreling over the funding law or the assessment law. Our bonds would not have been worth ten cents a bushel, and it would have mattered little what tax might be levied, as nobody would be able to pay any thing.

The Second District.

Judge Houk has withdrawn in favor of Senator Brownlow, and will stump the District for him. W. A. Henderson, Democrat, has also withdrawn, and it is thought Mabry will be off in a few days, thus leaving the field to Senator Brownlow and Col. Thornburgh. As the Senator would be more potent at Washington than the Colonel, it is likely he will receive a pretty solid vote in Knoxville, though Jake and his friends say, with but the two in the field, they can beat the old veteran in the District.

Since the above was put in type we notice a Card in the Knoxville papers from Senator Brownlow, withdrawing his name as a candidate for Congress.

The Press and Herald of the same date prints a Card from General Mabry, in which he announces that he will continue on the track—so the race now is between that gentleman and Thornburgh, with the chances largely in favor of the latter.

The News.

As weekly papers generally circulate in the country, news, local and foreign, should be their speciality and something else the incident. Our exchange list embraces forty odd weeklies, not a half dozen of which devote any labor or space to the current news. Their conductors seem to think that, as the towns along the railroads are supplied with dailies, an intelligent weekly resume of the news is unnecessary, and would be an absurdity. And herein we think our brethren make a serious mistake. The man who lives away from the main lines of inter-communication, and depends upon the average weekly, is in danger of dying in blissful ignorance of what is going on in the world in which he exists, moves and has a being. More facts and less fiction, more news and less sentimental flapping, would no doubt prove advantageous to patron and publisher alike.

Here's Your Black Kuklux.

A dispatch from Holly Springs, Mis-issippi, of Oct. 8, says:

Last night a mob of negroes, numbering about forty, took James Perkins and Wm. Ravenswood, colored, from the jail, and shot them dead thereby avenging the death of Mack Hill. It was done so quietly that few persons knew of it until this morning. All is quiet now.

It is painful to think that a State like Mississippi, where negro supremacy is absolute, and which has for its Governor a son-in-law of the best spoken of in the Apocalypse with seven heads and ten horns—or, ten horns and seven heads, we don't now remember which—the great and mighty Adelbert—we say it is painful to contemplate that such things can occur in a State thus governed and controlled, and which has been so thoroughly re-c-o-n-s-t-r-u-c-ted that the President, in his maudlin hours, refers to it as the great crowning feature of his administration.

The Good Man Loses his Temper.

A short paragraph in our paper of week before last seems to have turned the natural milk and water of Brother Charlton's disposition into gall and wormwood, and he comes back at us in a half column or more, principally made up of such expressions as "old codger," "imbecility," "Collins' ram,"

"old hulk," "dog days," "excrements," and other choice and fragrant epithets,
